Some of the insurgents, probably from a conviction of the hopelessness of their cause. have since, it is stated, committed barakiri.

But this demonstration would seem to have material, for the example of the Kumamoto shizoku has incited those of Akidzuki to raise the standard of revolt. They have, it seems, joined the Kumamoto rebels in considerable force, and it is feared that their example may be infectious. The Japanese Government was prompt in action. · A number of officials belonging to the War Office-were, on receipt of telegraphic information of the butbreak, immediately des patched from Tokio to the scene. The garrisons stationed at Kokura, Nagasaki. Hiroshima, and Osaka have been called out, and troops are also to be sent from the capital. Chebkiang (Min-cheh) is filled by the appoint

No efforts will be spared to, it possible, nip the rebellion in the bud. The causes for this unexpected insurrection are variously stated. changes wrought by the revolution of 1869, and ever since that date have been compelled to remain unwilling spectators of successive innovations which have by degrees broadened the gulf between Old and New Japan until it has become wholly impassable. Yet while we deeply regret the necessity for such a conflict, in which brave though mistaken men have to give way before the rising tide of a higher civilization, it must be acknowledged that such a collision is inevitable. Whenever a country attains to a new and nobler era in its history, it seldom reaches it . After evidence proving both charges, the to be gifted with the power of prophecy to Vue he was several lengths in front. Hotspur save as by fire. Nor has Japan been an exception to the general rule. Her reformation has only been accomplished by a revolution, to commit spinide. in which some of her best blood was shed. The Kumamoto smeute may fairly be

It bust evidently, ship dlexander MoNeil, was fined fifty cents for agent to make such a contract as was alleged, however, not been a carefully planned and drunkenuces. deliberate attempt to upset the MIRADO's Government. Tais is apparent from the fact that the rebels have shown so little idea of concentrating themselves, and that the revolt is mainly confired to the shizoku of Kiushin. But while there is every probability that the decisive measures adopted by the Government will suffice to quell the insurrection, it cannot be denied that delay would have proved dangerous to good order, if not to the stability of the present Administration. If the Kumamoto insurgents were suffered to achieve any real success, a great temptation would thereby be thrown out to other disaffected clans to join in the revolt. The shizoku of the Kochi ken are said to be making warlike preparations, while suspicious reports are spread concerning the Yamaguchi and Choshiu kens. Little fear seems to be entertained with regard to the lovalty of the Satsuma men, and long as that most powerful of claus absthins from taking part in the insurrection; there can be no question as to its final issue Just as the Japanese Government quelled the Saga rebellion, so it will succeed in putting a stop to the outbreak-in Kiushin. This may not be effected until much blood has been spilt and many lives needlessly throws nwara It is sincerely to be hoped that the shizoku of other kens will not allow themsolves to be involved in this disastrous and fatal struggle, for though their accession to the rebel cause might serve to protract the strife, it could not very materially influence enough in time of prace, the yaconins were always formi able in the event of any die. turbance. Though the wearing of swords has been discontinued, it is evident that many weapons have been retained in their possession by the owners. It is probable that the authorities will, after the suppression of this rebellion, take measures to prevent arms of any sort being stored by the shizoka. The Japanese Government has had many difficulties to contend with, many troubles to face, and has so far successfully surmounted them all; we trust this will

SENOR FERRASDO V. BOJESEN, $20.00-Thi case was heard and decided some time ago favour of plaintiff, but the defendant subsequently applied for a rehearing. The facts of the case will be fresh in the minds of our readers. Mr. Handley now appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Brereton for defendant.

Mr. Handley said the action bad been tried on the 3rd. October, and his Lordship gave judgment for plaintiff. Since then defendant had applied for a relienting on various grounds. so that he supposed they must go through the whole case again as if it never had been heard. Mr. Breraton said it would save his Lordship reserved judgment. a good deal of trouble if they agreed to accept the evidence which had been already given. He (Mr. Brereton) proposed to supplement it with a few a lditional facts. Mr. Handley said be would agree to this. His Lordship said in that case he had better read over the evidence taken on the previous hearing and he did so. Senor Ferrando was then called. In answer to Mr. Handley he eaid he received the receipt produced on the day after the telegram was sent. He saw the word "deposit" on it. B. F. de Souza, chancelier at the Spanish Consulate, said that on Friday the 13th October, Senor Ferrando sent him to the Telegrap the $22, $20 for the reply and $2 for the ". R." saving he had been sent to do so. Mr. Boissen said perhaps the reply would come by the southern line as the northern line was interrupted, and it so time enough had not yet been allowed. PROBABLE REMOVAL OF THE GO

VERNOR TO QUEENSLAND.

WE are informed that His Excellency the GOVERNOR has received a communication from the Colonial Office to the effect that it is probable he will be removed to Queensland in the spring of next year. The announcement will be received with much regret for several reasons, though it may not excite very great surprise, as Sir ARTHUR KENNEDY has nearly completed the usual-five years' term of office here. It is to be hoped, however, that he will not be removed until the Commission on the Canton Customs cruisers' blockade has brought its labours to a conclusion and satisfactorily solved the difficulty. Sir ARTHUE now thoroughly understands the question and sees how the grievance presses on the trade of this Colony He has been instrumental in forcing upor the Home Authorities the conviction that the blockade was no sentimental grievance, and it would be well that he should be here to see his efforts towards its removal crowned with success. It is to be hoped that this will be the case. With regard to his proposed destination, it would appear probable that his appointment to Queensland has not suggested itself without special reason. The Chinese problem in that colony is becoming a difficult one, and it will, no The decision arrived at on the 2nd instaby the doubt, prove still more perplexing with the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce on the increase of the Celestial immigrants. We understand that Olien, the present magistrate of the Mixed Court, bas resigned his appointment and will retire at the end of the year. It is hardly surprising that he should be wenty of the work; between Consular pressure on the one hand and City resistance on the other, his be th cannot have been altogether one of roses, and we trust that some influence will be exerted at Poking to get him an easier pust

Wollearn with estisfaction that the agreement concluded between Mr. Mayers and the bigh authorities at Nanking, on the subject of the Woosung Railway, provides for the working of the line under the anspices of the existing Company for a certain period, under regulations which are to be framed as soon as possible. The Chinese Government is to become even tunlly p sarsaed of the line by purchase. It is to be hoped that the direct promisry interest which the Chinese Government will thus be led to take in the milway may serve to enlarge its views us to the benefit of such undertakings. We are not yet in possession of the details of the arrangement. Among the advantages likely to accrue from Mr. Mayers's recent visit to Nanking, we are plad to learn that a removal of the difficulties. recently thrown in the way of the extension of the driving roads outside the Settlement, is likely to be included. An understanding was prrived at, we believe, in the course of the negotiation. in pursuance of which the objections raised against the construction of the new roads has been withdrawn; and a meeting took place on the 1st instant at the Mixed Court, at which Her Majesty's Consul and Mr. Mayers, with the Taotai and the District Magistrate of Shanghai, accompanied by two Wei-yuens, exemined the plans relating to the proposed works. The party afterwards adjourned to the Cemetery Road, where the ground was inspected. No definite line of road having, however, as yet been fixed -upon, the question was not finally settled. The other proposed roadway, in the neighbourhood of Alph. Farm, is to be examined on a future occasion. The Soochow Creek appears to be again becoming famous for piratical attacks on native strongly posted, do not seem to have considered craft. Several instances of the kind are known to have occurred quite recently, but whether the pirates have been cuptured and punished is an open question. A more then usually glaring case happened on the 20th inst., Obwhich, as far as we [ have been able to learn, the facts are as follow; -A silk dealer and his partner from Hangchow had been to Shanghai to dispose of their stock, most advantageous terms. Some more soldiers, on account of which one of them had received Sycee to the value of Tle. 400. The amount of Svcee in the possession of the other is not known, but is believed to have been of greater. value. The two men left Shanghai in a boot on dollars. I am told that this system of squeezing Chinese characters, and Medburst's English reached a place named Singpo about forty li on this side Kunsbau. Here they unchored for the night, and retired to cest. About eleven o'clock, a canz of ten or a dozen pirates boarded the boat, seized the two unfortunate men, dragged them ashore, and beat them so savagely as to leave them for dead on the bank of the Creek, One of them, it is believed, has since died from the effects of the injuries be received. TALCHOW. 8th October. There has been a rather serious disturbance among the hills about filteen as twenty miles to the eastward of this place, but the accounts are various and conflicting both as to ta origin and its results. But so far as I can learn, about the beginning of the present year a mun belonging Fung-hwa district had been rabbed at place called Tung-chu-shan; the matter was brought before the Taction at Ningpo and orders were sent to the authorities here to apprehend the robbers. A number of soldiers STRAW. were sent who captured three men and carried rose up against them and resoued the men; VETS-and VELVETEENS. to England, it is noticeable that, in default of and, I suppose, recovered the plander, while the headquen of the village where the affici took place, dreading the consequences, made the matter all square with the officials by a liberal bribe and were pronounced a peaceable and law abiding people. It seems how ever that a clan fend had existed between this and a neighbouring clan, and the opposit party, chagrined at the result, and having matter of blood revenue to settle-a man belonging to them having some time previously been unordered and no redress baring teer obtainable from the authorities—they thought it was time to take the law into their own hands; HOODS and HATS. and so captured and murdered three mon to pay 'off old score. The magistrate, though much frightened, was however equal to the occasion. He reviewed the bodies, and then said it served them right; seeing they had been guilty of murder themselves they deserved to die, and had now received the just reward of their deeds. Having pronounced this verdlo he was permitted to retire unmolested, and returned to this place. A body of soldiers were then despatched to reduce the refactory village to submission, and with the members of the family who had brought the once before the district magistrate acting as guides, they made an attack upon the village supposed to be in sympathy with the malcoutents who had shown such a threatening attitude at the inquest. The village was burned and about one hundred people, mostly women and children were masau cred; but they suffered severely in turn. being attacked by a for well posted and well armed, who inflicted considerable damage on them without their being able to inflict any in return. Foiled in their attempt to penetrate the position of the insurgents, the troops returned to the city bringing their dead and wounded with them, and also capturing a number of the more/peace ally disposed villagers in the neighbourhood. The soldiers lost severely having over twenty killed and seventy or eight wounded: But it is asserted that not one of the insurgents was injured, and it is doubtful whether among the many captured there are any who have actually been engaged in the affair,

After the retirement of the soldiers, the insurgents, though reported to be well armed and t prudent to allow themselves to be surrounded and their retreat out off, sothey quietly dispersed, and a few days ago a body of soldiers, sent to graphy displays the success of an attempt to capture their stronghold, contented themselves make the Chinese and English type correspond with capturing the ozen and pigs they found in the neighbourhood, which they brought into the city and are trying to dispose of on the I learn, have gone, and are busy seizing all and sundry whom they meet, and charging them with complicity in the affair, but are quite willing to let them off on the payment of a few is still going on at Tin-tal where a disturbance took place about two years ago, and it will very likely be continued with more or less pressure for some time in the district where the recent disturbance took place.
